VOLUME XLV — UKIAH CITY, MENDOCINO COUNTY CAL., FRIDAY MORNING, FEB. 7, 1913 — NUMBER 17

LEGISLATURE HAS ADJOURNED

Month's Vacation for Discussion of Bills

BULL MOOSE WALLACE IN BAD

Sacramento Cal.
Feby. 4, 1913.

The legislature adjourned to day for the constitutional recess and will reconvene on March 10th. There will be plenty of work to do during the second session as about 1500 bills have been introduced in each house, in addition to Amendments and Joint and Concurrent Resolutions. Copies of all bills and histories will be sent to all public libraries, chambers of commerce, and County clubs of the state so that the people may have an opportunity to study the measures that have been introduced. In all probability public meetings will be held in some places where there are measures that vitally affect the people. Any one can get a bill by writing to the secretary of the Senate, Walter N. Parrish, Sacramento, Cal.

Little has been done since my last letter except the introduction of bills. The senate has fought for four days over the Sanford resolution endorsing Senator Works and favoring his resolution extending the presidential term to six years and limiting the president to one term. A stormy scene was the result. The Bull Moosers, fearing to meet the issue moved to lay the resolution on the table. This was "gag" rule as it would stifle debate. A long and stormy debate followed during which Senator Caminetti and Lieutenant Governor Wallace got into heated colloquy. The Lieutenant Governor ordered Caminetti to take his seat. This the fiery senator refused to do and then the Lieutenant Governor lost his head and ordered the Sergeant at Arms to remove Caminetti from the Senate Chamber. This of course exceeded his constitutional authority and threw the senate into an uproar. This high handed procedure was without precedent and had the effect of solidifying the democrats and demoralizing the bull moosers. The old railroad machine in its palmiest days never attempted such tactics. Of course the bull moosers know now that they made a mistake and are trying to square themselves. The Lieutenant Governor has had a nervous break down over the row and has gone home to recuperate. Who would have thought that such a little innocent resolution would stir up such a row? Every one is getting ready to leave Sacramento—and so am I.

GEORGE SWITZER TAKES COAST GIRL AS BRIDE

Was Married Here Last Monday

George Switzer, of Mendocino, and Mrs. Beckman, also of that city, were united in marriage in Ukiah last Monday evening Feb. 3, by Rev. J. E. Moore. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the South church.

The young couple are among the best known and most popular on the coast. The groom is a contracting teamster and is a hardworking young man. He bears a reputation for sterling honesty as well as having the name of being one of the most efficient men in his line on the coast.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Knight of Mendocino and is a pretty and charming young lady. Their romance dates from several years back.

George and his bride have the best wishes of a host of friends all over the coast and of all who know them in the valleys. The Dispatch joins in congratulations.

They will make their home at Mendocino.

D. H. Lawson returned the first of the week from an extended trip to the Point Arena section, where he was called on business. He reports things lively on the south coast.

In the degree team will be eight of the stalwart young men of the lodge and in addition to these will be the officers and a number of other members of the Ukiah lodge, also a number of candidates.

HEAD ON COLLISION WRECKS A HAND CAR

Section Crew Have Close Call

Special to Dispatch

A head-on collision occurred on the Northwestern Pacific near Fountain early Wednesday morning when a north bound extra freight collided with and nearly demolished a hand car and speeder in charge of foreman L. W. Wernett. Fortunately the men all jumped in time to save their lives, being a very narrow escape, as the extra train met them on a curve at a high rate of speed. Fred Stoschke veteran track man who was riding on the hand car and who has met with several near accidents says this is the closest call he has ever had in his twenty five years railroad experience.

Sale Falls Through

A deal was on the latter part of last week involving the sale of the Hotel Cecille by the present landlord, Mr. Wilde. The proposed purchasers were J. A. Perazzo and C. O. Gunnell two genttlemen of Lovelock, Nevada, where they have been engaged in the hotel business. Mr. Perazzo was a former resident here.

The deal was almost completed when some misunderstanding arose and it was declared off.

Mr. Gunnell is much enthused with this part of the state and may seek another opening.

Looking Over Property

Percy V. Long, city attorney of San Francisco, was in Ukiah the first of last week looking over the ranch in Redwood valley in which he had purchased in partnership with J. S. Huntley. Mr. Huntley has been getting the place into shape and Mr. Long was very much elated with the looks of the ranch. He will return here to spend a portion of the summer. He is an enthusiastic booster for Ukiah and will be the means of getting others to invest here.

He is an old friend of Mr. Huntley

Committed to Asylum

Wm. Rasmussen and Ward Reis came over from Fort Bragg the first of the week having in charge Fred Rasmussen, who had exhibited symptoms of insanity. He was examined before the Superior court and committed to the state hospital at Talmage.

Rasmussen is a well known business man of Fort Bragg and has many friends on the coast who will regret to hear of his affliction and hope for his speedy reovery. It is thought that the affection is only temporary.

Mrs. W. W. Thatcher and Mrs. Clendenin were up from Hopland yesterday in attndance at the Vassar trial.

VASSAR CASE WILL GO TO JURY TODAY

Preston Making a Hard Fight

The case of the people vs. Wm. Vassar charged with the murder of Dr. Staggs at Hopland last November, has been proceeding in the Superior court this week before Judge Zook, of Marin county, Judge White having been too ill last Monday to begin the case, although having recovered sufficiently the past day or so to be about town. Practically nothing new has developed as regards the evidence since the preliminary, a full report of which was given in the Dispatch at that time. The sole witness to the tragedy was Staggs' young son and according to his evidence his father walked toward Vassar, who was holding a gun levelled at him, and dared him to shoot. Both men had been drinking. Character witnesses gave Staggs the reputation of being a bad man and this possibly will influence the jury to a certain extent in Vassar's favor. Attorney J. W. Preston for the defense is making a hard fight.

Upwards of 50 well known Hopland people have been drawn to town on account of the case, either as witnesses or through being interested in the outcome and the courtroom has been crowded every day.

The case is expected to go to the jury today.

Accused of Intimidation

W. J. Vassar, father of Wm. Vassar, on trial in the Superior court charged with the murder of Dr. Staggs, was arrested last Tuesday evening on a warrant sworn to by District Attorney Duncan. He gave bail and was released pending hearing. The charge is that he sought to intimidate a witness, to wit, Len Dooley, threatening to send him to states prison if he did not testify that Staggs' hand was in his pocket when the body was found. Young Dooley informed Duncan and the arrest of Vassar resulted. Dooley afterward testified that Staggs' hand was outside.

Juror Breaks Leg

A peculiar condition of affairs arose regarding the jury in the Vassar case the first of the week when Juryman Steele, of Calpella broke his leg and was incapacitated from serving. It became necessary to get a new juryman and this in turn necessitated beginning the case all over again in order to get all the evidenced before the new juryman. As this meant practically a new jury Attorney Preston peremptorily challenged two more of the jurymen whom he had previously passed and the three new jurors sworn to try the case were S. F. Speer, F. M. Seward and F. O. Taylor.

County Clerk McCowen collected $302 in fees; Recorder Holbrook $346.-70; Judge Whitney $45; Judge Crockett $20; Sheriff Byrnes $60.80.

Ford on the Job

Supervisor Ford has been busy the past two weeks traveling over the roads in this valley and marking mudholes for fixing as soon as the spring opens up. Mr. Ford intends to do a great deal of gravelling and says that even if he does but a little piece each year he is going to make his work of a permanent nature. His slogan was "permanent roads" during the campaign and he is going to carry it out.

One of his first acts is to replace the bridge at the turn on the asylum road with a concrete culvert.

LOOSE REVIVAL BIG SUCCESS

350 Conversions Result From Religious Campaign

ALL CHURCHES ARE BENEFITED

The Great Loose Campaign came to an end last Sunday night at 11:30 after a revival the like of which was never seen in Ukiah before.

The meeting began Sunday morning January 5 with weather conditions for weeks very unfavorable for the aged and sick people to attend but the good work progressed just the same and when weather conditions changed things began to go at a rapid rate so that when the meetings came to a close there were about 350 converts on the list, of all ages from childhood to the three score and ten age and it is an inspiration to see the sunny smile in all of their faces which bespeaks sincerity and happiness.

Last Sunday was the greatest day of all for the day was an ideal one from a weather standpoint. Even the sun seemed to show the spirit of happiness and shone bright and warm all day. At 10:30 the hall was full to the doors and many of the late comers took seats in the gallery. After a very strong sermon by Mr. Loose on the subject of Heaven he departed and a free will offering was taken which amounted to over $800 and to make it nicer every one seemed happy to be able to help in order to show their appreciation of the good results obtained through the efforts of Mr. Loose and his helpers. Sunday at 2:30 the hall was filled with men who listened with rapt attention to the address on the Subject of "Fish, Frog, or Tadppole" as their curiosity had been aroused to know just which term would fit each listener and no doubt each one felt in his heart just where he stood by the time the sermon was finished. At 7:30 the biggest meeting of the season commenced with the chorus songs led by Prof. Wilgus. Before the sermon the choir presented Mr. Wilgus with a handsome watch fob as a token of their appreciation of his help to them during the entire campaign.

Both Mr. Loose and Wilgus received many tokens of appreciation from those who had received so many blessings from the meetings. Some 25 or 30 men led to Christ that last night and are sorry that they put it off so long but are just as happy as can be to think that they did not put it off until it would have been too late.

Monday A. M. the pastor very reluctantly took the train for the East. A score or more of the happy converts and workers were at the depot to bid them good bye and [illegible] Mr. Wilgus left his baggage on the platform unchecked, but one of the brethern took pity on him and forwarded it on the next train.

Bros. Graham and Anderson accompanied the party as far as Santa Rosa where Mr. Loose stopped off to arrange for a future meeting and he was so excited that he got off and left his suit case on the train.

Now that the great campaign has ended it is up to the churches to take care of the converts and supply amusements to entertatin and keep them spiritually alive.

The ladies of the different churches are forming a society which looks to that end. This is to be a permanent organization for giving legitimate entertainment and amusement to every one, young and old.

There will be a reception of their new members Friday night at each of the churches.

NEW RESIDENT PLANTS BIG PEAR ORCHARD

4000 Trees in Redwood Valley

Louis Heilmann who lately purchased the old Silherhrn home in Redwood valley, and the John Stokes place and the C. C. Doersch property adjoining it, has begun operations on a big scale looking toward the improvement of his acquisitions. This week there arrived in Ukiah for him the biggest consignment of fruit trees ever shipped into this valley to one owner. In the lot there were 4000 Bartlett pear trees, sufficient to plant 40 acres. Mr Heilmann has been busy clearing such of the land as was encumbered with brush and timber and has been using dynamite for the purpose with much success. Besides the forty acres which he is planting to pears he has considerable other orchard containing a variety of fruits.

When he has finished the work he has mapped out he will have one of the largest and best orchards in the county and will probably have the biggest acreage in the county planted to pears.

REDWOOD VALLEY CLUB WILL CELEBRATE

Oyster Supper on Anniversary

The Redwood Valley Improvement club will close the first year of its existence this week and the event will be celebrated by an oyster supper in the club rooms at the residence of J. H. Howard.

The club has done a great deal for the valley and is a remarkable example of what may be done by co-operation among the members of a rural community. Through its efforts Redwood valley will have a free rural delivery in the very near future, Government representatives having already visited the section, gone over the route proposed and given it their hearty approval. In addition to this the valley has taken on a more prosperous appearance due to the improvement of fences and outbuildings and the boosting spirit has been fostered until Redwood has a reputation among San Francisco real estate men that has brought it many settlers of a good class. In addition to this the club has held many very successful social affairs which have tended to bring the people together and all in all, its members feel that it has been more than successful.

ENTERTAIN UKIAH BASKET BALL TEAM

Mendocino High Does the Grand

After the basket-ball game last Saturday evening, an informal reception was tendered the Ukiah team by the faculty and students of the local high school.

The hall and rooms of the school building were prettily decorated in blue and gold, the colors of the Ukiah high school.

After the visitors were introduced to their many admirers the company proceeded to enjoy itself in the pleasure of the dance until the hour of midnight arrived, when all adjourned to the banquet room where a dainty buffet luncheon was served.

An odd and attractive program was designed by members of the art class of the school, the colors being blue and gold and bearing a drawing of two basket-ball players in action.

Mules For South Carolina

Last week Cottingham Brothers shipped to Fayetteville S. C., from the Kansas city stock yards a train load of 409 mules. This is the largest single shipment from Kansas City since the Buer war. The cotton planters are now conducting a profitable industry and demand a better grade for mules. Nearly all of this shipment of mules exceeded 1,000 pounds in weight and were from fourteen to sixteen hands high. These mules were worth from $250 to $300 each and the consignment was worth nearly $125,000.

Sir Humphry Davy.

Sir Humphry Davy married a widow as peculiar as himself. His pet affectation was a lack of time. He was always in a hurry. He pretended that he had no leisure to dress himself, and when a change of linen became necessary he simply put one shirt over another until he was known to have on five or six shirts at a time. Of course he could not wear this amount of apparel without appreciably increasing his size, and his friends not in the secret were sometimes surprised to see him fall off in apparent weight twenty pounds in a day. His wife's great anxiety was to keep him "fit for company," but as he did not care a fig for company she had no easy task, and domestic discord was a common thing.

The Troubles of a Giant.

George Cumberland saw the famous giant Obrian Boro in the Strand in London in 1784, and in "The Cumberland Letters," edited by Clementina Black, gives this note on him: "His hand, from the ball of his thumb, actually measures eleven inches and a half and is large in proportion. When I stood up I could just with my forefinger touch the bottom of his chin—in a word, he is eight feet three inches high, and his bones are in proportion large—but the poor devil seems to be dying for want of air and exercise. He is nineteen years of age and expects to be nine feet high."

Resigned.

"Mrs. Dibble wears a resigned look."

"Yes. After she married Dibble she realized that nothing worse could ever happen to her."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

BRITISH AMAZONS

Women Who Could Pull an Oar With the Best of Men.

WON FAME ALL OVER EUROPE.

Ann Glanville and Her Champions Not Only Beat Their Own Countrymen, but Went to Havre and Outrowed Half a Dozen Crack French Crews.

In the boat races that have from time immemorial been rowed on the Hamoaze, the estuary of the Tamar and the Tavy that forms part of the harbor of Plymouth, the women of Saltash have often distinguished themselves. In "Around and About Saltash" P. E. B. Porter writes of Ann Glanville, whose amazonian feats of oarsmanship made her famous all over Europe:

"Some sixty or seventy years ago the crew of Saltash women was often seen not only on the Hamoaze, but wherever aquatic sports were held. It was not often that Ann and the crew that she stroked were beaten in a match—never by other women.

"They competed for prizes at Hull Liverpool, Portsmouth and Dartmouth, and it must not be supposed that a crew of men ever yielded the palm out of masculine courtesy, for, as a matter of fact, the men did not at all relish being beaten by a 'parcel of females.'

"In some of these contests Mrs. Harriet Screech, a daughter of Ann Glanville, who had fourteen children, rowed with her mother. As she was the youngest member of the crew she pulled bow oar, the least arduous post in the boat.

"Once this crew, rowing a match at Fleetwood in the presence of Queen Victoria, gave the men so sound a beating that her majesty asked to have Ann presented to her.

"However, the most famous event of Ann's life took place in 1850, when Captain Russell of H. M. S. Brunswick suggested to her that she and her crew should go to Havre to the regatta there and challenge the Frenchmen, a proposal to which she readily assented.

"When the Frenchmen heard of the challenge from les Anglaises de Saltashe they shrugged their shoulders, for they scarcely regarded it as serious. And when the women appeared in their white frilled caps prinked out with blue ribbons, in their short petticoats and white dresses, with blue neckerchiefs tied over the shoulders and crossed behind the back, they looked puzzled.

"The challenge of the Englishwomen created a stir not only in Havre, but for miles along the French coast and for many leagues inland too. And in England the greatest interest was aroused.

"When the day of the regatta came there was a vast concourse of people to witness the contest. Every quay, hilltop and housetop from which a view of the course could be had was crowded. Every one was on tiptoe of expectation. Before the start the Saltash crew had a pull round 'to show themselves.' Their steady stroke, the way in which they bent their backs to their work and the perfect ease and grace with which they pulled made the French open their eyes.

"Ann and her crew had not the best start possible, nor at first did they have the advantage. Five minutes after the start six boats were ahead of them. But they soon tested their opponents' nerve. Ann, who had the stroke oar, gave the word:

"'Bend your backs to it, maidens, and hurrah for old England!'

"One by one, with a cheer from old Ann, they passed the six boats. At last they drove their boat, with the British color flying gayly at the fore, into the lead. It was a long course and a hard pull, but they soundly thrashed the Frenchmen. Ann and her 'maidens' beat them by 100 yards. The members of this famous crew were Ann Glanville, Harriet Hosking, Jane House and Amelia Lee. A man acted as coxswain.

"Mrs. House was so elated at the victory that on reaching the committee boat she plunged into the water, dived under the vessel and came up with a dripping and drooping cap on the opposite side.

"Ann Glanville died in 1880, at the age of eighty-five, dignified, vigorous and handsome to the last. Her character was summed up by a neighbor in these words:

"'Her was honest to a farthing, clean as a smelt and kind hearted as a queen.'"

THE OLD STUFF.

My son, when you go to a vodyville show
You'll notice that people will shriek
At jokes they have heard since the long, long ago
And heard twenty times every week.
The moral is plain if you'll read as you run:
A novelty adds to our zest,
But when it comes down to extracting the "mon"
The old stuff gets over the best.

It may be all right when you're courting a dame
To talk about Ibsen and such;
But, take it from me—if you'd win at the game,
You won't stick to Ibsen so much.
You'll tell her that she's of a beauteous mold,
A stunner becomingly dressed.
You'll tell all the lies that men always have told.
The old stuff gets over the best.

In politics, business, society, art,
However the world has progressed,
It still remains true to the words I impart,
"The old stuff gets over the best."

Real Estate Sold

Poage and Ford report that real estate market is improving with the good weather and that outside inquiries are numerous.

They have recently closed the following sales:

The A. J. Stuck place two miles south of Ukiah to D. S. Jones who sold his ranch in the Brunner-Briggs addition to a gentleman from Eureka.

The home place of Mrs. Effie M. Heughes in Redwood Valley to J. A. Ford.

Mr. Stuck has moved to Albion and rented the dairy and stock ranch of P. Connolly near there.

Off for the Canal

County Clerk Hale McCowen and Attorney Hale McCowen junior, departed last Tuesday for San Francicso whence they took train for New Orleans. From the latter city they will sail for Panama where they will take in operations in the canal zone. The present is the only time that there will be an opportunity to see the big ditch before the water is turned in and the McCowers are availing themselves of the opportunity.

They will be gone for several weeks.

New Management

The Ukiah Times entered under new management this week, Messrs. Potter and Adams taking charge. Both gentlemen are from Palo Alto and both are practical newspaper men, having been engaged in the business before.

Lewis Hale Dead

DRESS OF MALTESE WOMEN.

Silk Hooded Cloaks Hide Face and Form From the Curious.

The dress of the Maltese is very singular, and that of the women striking in the extreme. When abroad they are all arrayed in black. They put on over their other dress a robe or loose skirt of that color, brought high on the bosom, and in place of bonnets their heads are covered with a black silk mantle which invests their shoulders and descends halfway behind.

The part which covers the head is furnished with a piece of whalebone inserted in the hem, which keeps it in position and prevents the silk from dropping over the eyes. One hand, placed inside, is always necessary to hold together the sides of the scarf in front, and the other hand is often hid under its folds, only a forefinger being suffered to appear through the opening left for the purpose. Of course, under such mufflers little can be seen of the beauties of form or feature if a Maltese nymph happens to possess them. The eyes and a moving, pall black figure are all that can be distinguished.

But sometimes the fair one deigns to exhibit her face to a curious gazer in place of engrossing herself the privilege of seeing, and features good humored, rather pleasing than handsome and irradiated by a pair of fine, sparking eyes, are displayed to the beholder. The complexion is a dark olive, partaking a little of a sort of mulatto tinge.

The mantle is obviously borrowed, or rather it has descended from a distant age and people. It answers to the veil of eastern ladies.

Such figures, thousands of whom are abroad on the Sabbath, give the streets a funeral look. It seems as if all Malta had gone into mourning.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Scott's Narrow Escape.

The world had a narrow escape of never having known a Sir Walter Scott. When a tiny babe he was left in charge of a maid, but the girl's heart was in Edinburgh, whither she wanted to go to rejoin her lover. She was, however, compelled to stay and look after the infant at Sandy Knowe. The girl regarded her charge as an obstacle to be removed and afterward confessed that she carried young Scott up to the crags (under a strong temptation of the devil, as she expressed it), fully intending to cut his throat with her scissors and bury him under the moss.

Compliments.

Said a certain eminent actor, who the age of fifty-nine looks no more than thirty-five:

"I try to keep my hair on and my stomach off—that is the true secret of perennial youth."

Then he told one of his famous stories illustrative of the horrors of corpulence.

"A fat man," he said, "could not help laughing one day at the ludicrous appearance of a very bow legged chap, one of those arch looking chaps, you know.

"Though a total stranger to him, the fat man slapped the bow legged chap on the back and said:

"'By jingo, brother, you look as if you'd been riding a barrel

"The bow legged man smiled and poked his forefinger deep into the fat man't soft, loose stomach.

"'And you look as if you'd been swallowing one,' he said."—Washington Star.

To Automobile Owners

Have you ever had a blow-out and ruined your tire before you were able get it repaired?

Have you ever had a boot applied in such a manner as to absolutely prevent slipping and fracture from spreading?

Have you ever had a protector that could be adjusted in one minute?

Have you ever had any device that would hold a blow-out for any length of time?

The use of Martel Blow-out Protector and Martel Special Plate will positively overcome all of the above disadvantages and will be the best investment you ever made in connection with your Machine. Seven out of ten blow-outs can be detected by bulging of tire before blow-out occurs and one minutes time to apply either Device will prevent that blow-out.

No inside patch necessary unless a piece of the tire is blown away.

All these devices are made of the best malleable iron and nickel steel drop forgings and are without doubt the most perfect ever put on the market.

Just think how many blow-outs yon could have avoided had you had this blow-out protector when you saw a bulge coming from the side of your tire that was sure to Blow-out within the next day or so.

MEETING A GHOST

Old Tom Came Face to Face With It Between Decks.

SCARED THE SAILOR STIFF.

Then When He Got Wind Enough to Yell There Was a Lively Time Aboard the Old Sailing Vessel Till a Mate Ended the Mystery.

Of course there is no reason why ghosts should not be found on shipboard as often as elsewhere. As a matter of fact, Jack, who is always superstitious, sees his full share of apparitions. This amusing story, told by the ghost himself, is found In Captain John D. Whidden's "Ocean Life In the Old Sailing Days:"

Whidden, a boy of thirteen, was making his first voyage. The ship was hardly clear of land when a heavy storm set in. Whidden was feeling wretched and in carrying breakfast to the forecastle upset a pan of hot souse on the head of "ood Tom" at the foot of the companionway stairs. The cutting he had for this did not make him feel any better. An hour or two later, when the men were sent aloft, the boy slipped down the booby hatch and was soon fast asleep among some rope, canvas and oakum that were piled against the forward bulkhead next the forecastle.

When he awoke it was dark, but light streaming through some auger holes in the bulkhead and the sound of voices brought him to his senses. He was surprised to hear the crew talking about him, as if he were dead, and discussing the manner in which he had been swept overboard. He heard old Tom say, "Well, I'm sorry I hit him, but the cub scalt every spear of hair out of my head."

He had another long sleep. When he awoke he heard the crew washing down decks and realized that he was perfectly well and very hungry. He found a barrel of apples in the lower hold, filled his pocket and shirt bosom, climbed back into his nest, ate apples and went to sleep again.

The next day old Tom was sent below to cut a piece of rope from the coils among which Whidden was hiding. While he was sawing at the rope, the boy, disturbed by the noise, peeped out of the coil of hawser in which he lay and met Tom's glance.

"With whitened face and bulging eyes," says Mr. Whidden, "he gazed at me a moment, then dropping rope and knife and emitting a series of blood curdling yells he dashed for the booby hatch and disappeared on deck. Every one was aroused. I heard the second mate ask, 'What's broke loose with you?' and all old Tom could ejaculate was, 'I've seen him! I've seen him!'

"'Seen who?' yelled Mr. Fabens.

"'Oh, the boy's ghost! the boy's ghost!' Old Tom was nearly frightened out of his wits.

"'Mr. Fabens,' said the captain, 'get a lantern, take that fellow below and see what scared him.'

"So Mr. Fabens descended the ladder with half the crew at his back, and old Tom bringing up the rear. As they came forward the mate called out, 'Where's your ghost? I don't see any ghost!'

"Until now I had lain quiet, but feeling that I was discovered I rose up to step out of the coil. Tom gave another yell and broke for the hatch ladder, followed by half the men.

"Mr. Fabens came up, reached over, lifted me out by the collar and marched me on deck, where I was at once surrounded by officers and crew.

"Captain King stepped forward and said, 'Well, boy, where have you been for the last forty-eight hours?'

"'Between decks, sir,' I sheepishly answered.

"'What have you been doing between decks?'

"'Sleeping, sir.'

"'What, sleeping two days and nights?'

"'Not all the time, sir,' I replied.

"'Had anything to eat?'

"'Apples,' I ventured.

"'Where did you get the apples?'

"'Out of the hold, sir. I got the head out of a barrel.'

"'Oh, you did! Do you know you've been broaching cargo?' and then, thinking the farce had gone far enough, for all hands were on the broad grin, he said, sternly:

"'Now go for'ard, boy, and if you cut any more capers like that, you'll get a rope's ending you'll remember all your life.' Then, to Mr. Fabens, he added, 'Keep him up in his day watch below for a week and give him plenty of work.'

"That ended his lecture, and I was glad it was over and that I had escaped so easily. Going forward with the men, I was pleased to see they bore me no ill feeling, not even Tom, although he might have been excused if he had done so."

Uncompromising.

John Bright's voice was unequivocally for peace. Says the London Nation: He was walking once past the Crimean monument in London with one of his sons, then a lad. Every one knows that the word "Crimea" is engraved on the monument. The boy pointed to the monument and to the word upon it and asked:

"Father, what is that?"

"That," said John Bright, pointing also to the word, "is a crime."

It is well there is no one without a fault, for he would not have a friend in the world.—Hazlitt.

Why He Wept.

He was a hardened looking ruffian, and, in the opinion of the spectators in the law courts, he didn't stand much of a chance.

His counsel, his voice husky with emotion, was addressing the jury.

"Gentlemen," said he, "my client is a very poor man. He was driven by hunger and want to take the small sum of money. All that he wanted was sufficient money to buy food for his little ones. Evidence of this lies in the fact that he did not take a pocketbook containing £50 in notes that was lying about the room."

The counsel paused for a moment to make his appeal more dramatic, but the silence that ensued was interrupted by the sobs of the prisoner.

"Why do you weep?" asked the judge.

"Because I didn't see the pocketbook there!" replied the prisoner in heart-broken accents.—Answers.

Ukiah People Have Found That This is necessary.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench a little cause may hurt the kidneys.

Spells of backache often follow, or some irregularity of the urine. A splendid remedy for such attacks, a medicine that has satisfied thousands is Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands of people rely upon it.

Here is one case:

Andrew Wilson, 1005 G St. Petaluma, Cal., says: "I have never had any serious recurrence of kidney complaint since I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills in 1902. I was in bad shape when I began the use of this remedy. My back was so painful that I was obliged to quit work more than once and there was no doubt as to what treatment I needed. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage at times then there was a retention. When I had the good fortune to learn of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply. The use of two boxes made me strong and well. Doan's Kidney Pills live up to the claims made for them in my case and I do not hesitate one moment in saying that they are a good kidney remedy."

Frenzied Arithmetic.

Three-year-old Amy, who had a very lively little brother, was being put through a lesson in arithmetic by her uncle. She had successfully added one and one, but stuck at two and one.

"Your mamma," said her uncle, "has two children. If she had one more what would that make?"

"Oh," cried Amy, "that would make my mamma cwazy!"—Woman's Home Companion.

A Gentle Hint.

"I'm hungry," said the out of a job tragedian.

"Well," said the kind hearted (?) manager, "can't I give you something to appease your hunger?"

"Surely," said the actor. "I believe I'd prefer a few dates."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

UKIAH, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, FEB. 7, 1913

There is no doubt but that the whole section north of the bay would be benefitted if terminal rates could be obtained by Santa Rosa. She is making a fight for them and the Ukiah Merchant's Association and Chamber of Commerce would do well to get behind the movement, at least with an endorsement, if not with a petition. San Jose out of envy has attempted to hold the matter up, a very small piece of business. Healdsburg, Cloverdale and other towns along the Northwestern Pacific have endorsed Santa Rosa's attempt and Ukiah owes it to her sister city to get in line.

The United States Supreme Court has held that the officials of the United Shoe Machinery Company did not violate the Sherman Anti-trust law by organizing that company.

The Court, however, did not pass upon legality of the system by which the company leases machines on terms that no 'independent'' machinery be used and the Government will prosecute the shoe company under the one remaining indictment that charges monopoly and unfair competitive methods, and which is declared by officials to be the most important and strongest.

A DESERT ENIGMA

Mystery of a Vanished Party of Australian Explorers.

LEFT NOT A TRACE BEHIND.

The Leichhardt Expedition Disappeared as Though It Had Been Swallowed Up by the Earth, Which May Indeed Have Been Its Fearful Fate.

There have been recorded many strange tragedies of exploration in lone and distant lands, but no one event of the kind has ever so stirred men's minds as did the total disappearance of the well found and splendidly equipped expedition which Dr. Ludwig Leichhardt, the Franklin of Australia, led into the central deserts of Australia in 1848.

Leichhardt's design was to march right across the continent from the east coast to the west, and as he had already led a successful expedition nearly 3,000 miles through a previously unknown part of Australia, it was generally thought that he would be able to accomplish the task.

Still, there were some who doubted and prophesied disaster, and more than one wealthy friend of the doctor's refused to subscribe toward the expedition on the ground that they were not going to help him to commit suicide.

The members of the expedition numbered six whites and two blacks, an unusually large number for an exploring expedition of this nature, and besides being amply provided with flour, biscuit, tea, sugar and so on, they drove along with them fifty bullocks and 270 goats. They also had spare horses and mules in abundance.

At that time the most westerly station in southern Queensland was occupied by a squatter named McPherson, who dwelt on Cogoon creek. From there Leichhardt wrote a brief letter as he was about to start into the unknown land beyond.

That was the last ever heard of him or of any of his companions and despite notwithstanding the fact that expedition after expedition was afterward sent out in search of them.

As completely as though they had been swallowed up by the earth they vanished.

This is the most puzzling part of the mystery its completeness. Had they been killed by the natives, as was at first wrongly reported, some relics of the explorers would long since have been recovered from them. In some shape the iron work of the implements and arms they had with them would have survived.

And what of the stock? Some of the goats, at all events, must have been left alive, one would have imagined, for these are notoriously hardy animals, able to pick up a living almost anywhere. Yet none of these, nor any of the horses, mules or bullocks were ever traced.

The probability is that the ill fated expedition struck one of those waterless patches of country common in parts of Australia, into which the blacks never venture. It is not difficult in this case to prophesy what would have been their fate.

Their reserve barrels once emptied of their precious contents, the little water carried by the men in their canteens would not last more than a day or so. In the shadeless bush, in that terrific heat, death comes swiftly under such circumstances. About forty-eight hours is the limit of human endurance. Usually half that time suffices.

The explorers, we may be sure, would struggle on to the last, however, husbanding their water to the uttermost drop. The animals would be the first to go, and the desperate expedient of drinking their blood would be resorted to.

Hotter and hotter grows the air as the doomed men stagger further and further into the rainless desert.

Some lose their reason; all lose hope. Then comes the end. They separate and struggle away in ones and twos, and fall and die.

Day after day the terrible and pitiless sun looks down upon them lying there and sees them dry and shrivel into mummies.

And still no rain falls.

But one day, it may be years afterward, there arises a sandstorm of exceptional violence. The wind blows with all the strength and fury of an arctic blizzard, but driving before it sand, not snow.

When it ceases the desert is there as before; the same, yet different. Mountains of sand exist where before were valleys.

The mummies have vanished from human ken forever.—Pearson's Weekly

SUPERVISORS' PROCEEDINGS

RESOLVED

That inasmuch as this Board does not approve of the attitude of some of the property owners on the west side of the Russian River whereby exorbitant prices are asked for the rights of way for the California State Highway, the California Highway Commission be requested to make a survey from Hopland to Ukiah on the East side of the River for the purpose of ascertaining the feasibility of the route and the rights of way situation.

The report of the Ukiah Water and Improvement Co. for the year 1913 was accepted by the Board.

An allowance of $20 per mo. was made to J. F. Gordon and family of Manzanita payable through the L. E. White Co. Store at Manzanita or at Elk.

The Board then adjourned to meet at 10 a. m. Monday, March 3, 1913.

CHOOSING A HOBBY.

Make It One That Will Relieve the Tension of Business.

Writing on the advantage and enjoyment that a busy man will derive from a hobby, Arnold Bennett says in the Metropolitan:

"In choosing a distraction that is to say, in choosing a rival to his business—he should select some pursuit whose nature differs as much as possible from the nature of his business, and which will bring into activity another side of his character. If his business is monotonous, demanding care and solicitude rather than irregular, intense efforts of the brain, then let his distraction be such as will make a powerful call upon his brain. But if on the other hand the course of his business runs in crises that string up the brain to its tightest strain, then let his distraction be a foolish and merry one.

"Many men fall into the error of assuming that their hobbies must be as dignified and serious as their vocations, though surely the example of the greatest philosophers ought to have taught them better! They seem to imagine that they should continually be improving themselves in either body or mind. If they take up a sport it is because the sport may improve their health. And if the hobby is intellectual it must needs be employed to improve their brain.

"The fact is that their conception of self improvement is too narrow. In their restricted sense of the phrase they possibly don't need improving, they possibly are already improved to the point of being a nuisance to their fellow creatures; possibly what they need is worsening. In the broad and full sense of the phrase self improvement, a course of self worsening might improve them.

"I have known men--and everybody has known them--who would approach nearer to perfection if they could only acquire a little carelessness, a little absentmindedness, a little illogicalness, a little irrational and infantile gaiety, a little unscrupulousness in the matter of the time of day. These considerations should be weighed before certain hobbies are dismissed as being unworthy of a plain man's notice."

PICTURESQUE HAVANA.

A Foreign City In Every Sense, With Its Own Odd Charm.

Americans driving to their hotel through Havana's narrow, noisy streets invariably exclaim that it seems to them "as if they were abroad." The question—to borrow a phrase from the widely traveled but unemotional Mr Baedeker—"need not detain them long." They are abroad. Havana is not merely "like a foreign town;" it is a foreign town. It has its own odd look, its special picturesqueness, its own tumultuous life. It abounds in unknown dishes and strange fruits, and upon the hot tropic night it pours out half barbaric music and queer melancholy songs.

The long traditions of the Spanish dominion of the two Americas still cling about Havana's fortresses and the palaces, churches and monasteries of her ancient streets. She was a proud, rich city, the entrepot of the west, when our northern mainland was a wilderness. And now in the Cuban twentieth century she is a crowded, thriving, gay metropolis, with her own pride, her own tropic airs and graces, her own wholly un-American individuality.

She may be crowded in the brief winter season with American tourists, may contain (as indeed she always has contained) a considerable American business colony and may be a refuge for derelicts and vagabonds straight from the pages of O. Henry, Richard Harding Davis and other Kiplings of Spanish America. Still, she is always the old Havana, the Cuban capital of Cuba.—Harrison Rhodes in Metropolitan.

The Two Garricks.

George Garrick, brother of the celebrated David, was the latter's most devoted slave and laborious pack horse. On coming behind the scene he usually inquired, "Has David wanted me?" It being asked once how George came to die so soon after the demise of his famous brother, a wag replied, "David wanted him."

TUITION PAID BY GOVERNMENT

Uncle Sam Will Pay for Indians in County Schools

MANY DISTRICTS ARE CHANGED

Hereafter Uncle Sam will pay a tuition fee to the county for every quarter, half or full blood Indian attending the county schools, according to an arrangement completed this week by Superintendent Babcock and the Government Indian Bureau. Although the Government has a number of Indian schools in the community there are sections where the Indian children are attending the county schools and in such cases under the new arrangement the county will be paid $27 a year for each of these pupils. This will form a considerable addition to county school funds as there are about a dozen districts where there are one or more Indian students in attendance and at the meeting of the board of Supervisors this week three new districts were created at three of the rancherias, where the attendance will be entirely Indian pupils.

The three rancherias where these schools have been established are Cahto Sherwood and Hopland, and the names under which the districts will be known are Hiawatha Minnehaha and Nokomis respectively.

A number of changes in districts throughout the county have also been made. In some cases districts have been declared lapsed and their territory added to that of neighboring districts while in other cases parts of existing districts have been taken and added to the territory of adjoining districts.

The lapsed districts are Elder Creek, which was added to Jackson; Fern Springs which is now included in Calpella; LaRue which was declared a part of Farley; Montgomery which was added to Caspar, and Moody, which is now a part of Piercy.

McKay has been allowed an addition from Littleriver; McNear from Central; Usal from Leggett Valley and the old Moody districts.

These changes were all necessary and in each case add to the convenience or effect a saving in the expense of administrating school business.

A petition was recieved asking for the formation of a new district to be known as Progressive out of Spring Grove but was laid over on account of lack of information and because due notice could not be given parties interested before the Supervisors adjourned this week.

COUNTY NIPS INDIANS FLEEING RESERVATION

Does Clever Detective Work

Clyde Brewer, Chief of Police of Ukiah, proved that he has the instinct of a natural born sleuth last Thursday night, when he located and placed under arrest five Indians from Round valley.

The Indians have been attending the Indian school on the reservation but became tired of Uncle Sam's teachings and decided to "beat it". They crawled out the skylight of the building Monday night of last week and slid down the posts of the porch and started for Ukiah. Brewer was notified in common with other sleuths along the route it was thought the Indians would take and was on the lookout for them. They followed the bed of Russian river down from Calpella after reaching that place and were going to secrete themselves among tribesmen in this valley. County nipped four of them but the fifth was missng. Later he found this one had gone to relatives near Guidiville. He got another Indian to go over and see if the fellow was there and found that he was and then rushed into the cabin and made the arrest.

The men were returned to Covelo under the charge of Omar Bates one of the Government employees.

Will Save Auto Tires

Geo. Bidwell has taken the agency for two automobile accessories that are almost necessities for owners of machines. They are the Martel blow out protector and the Martel special plate. Seven out of ten blowouts can be detected before they occur by the bulging of the tire and one minute's time to apply either of Bidwell's devices will prevent that blowut. They are cheap and are the only devices of the kind that have ever been found to do the work in an effective manner. You can use your old tires until they are worn beyond all hope of repair if you use these protectors.

You auto owners who are kicking about tire expense had better see Bidwell.

NAVAL GUN TELESCOPES.

Device That Made Possible Accurate Long Range Firing.

It was about the year 1885 that the telescope was first tested in conjunction with the firing of a modern gun. The tremendous concussion broke the lens, however, so that in order to use it at all the telescope had to be detached from the gun before firing, thereby entailing a loss of several seconds in time after aim had been taken.

Later, to obviate this defect, the telescope was adjusted to the axis of the gun by a system of parallel arms moving up and down in unison with the gun, though detached from it. This of course was a great improvement, but there were still grave practical defects.

Well, along in the early nineties Henry C. Mustin, a young midshipman at Annapolis, lean faced and square of jaw, built like a medium sized Hercules, quiet mannered, but a bulldog in the football field, interested himself in the study of optics. Naturally enough, his thoughts were directed to the defective lenses of the gun telescopes. The lenses broke when the guns were fired; therefore it was necessary to invent a nonbreakable lens.

One day years later, while stationed in Washington, Mustin called a few of his brother officers to the window near his desk on the second floor of a building in the navy yards. He showed them a lens with a metal band "shrunk" around its circumference. Then he opened the window and deliberately threw the lens with all his might upon the brick pavement below. The others knew of his pet hobby and thought he had given it up in disgust and had taken this way of telling them so. But he put on his hat, lit a cigarette and bade them follow him. He led them down the stairs amid considerable joking and out to the spot where the lens lay on the pavement. The glass was unbroken. The one great defect of the telescope sight had been overcome, and Mustin had made possible the long range gunnery of the modern navy. The thud of the little glass disk with its metal collar upon the brick pavement was the signal for the nations to begin to build their Dreadnoughts.—American Magazine.

LONG HAIRED MEN.

They Caused a Vigorous Protest In Massachusetts In 1649.

The following protest signed by Joseph Endicott, governor; Thomas Dudley, deputy governor; Richard Bellingham, Richard Saltonstall, Increase Nowell, William Hibbins, Thomas Flint, Robert Bridges and Simon Bradstreet was published in Massachusetts in 1649:

"Protest, against wearing long hair, of the governor, etc., of Massachusetts:

"Forasmuch as the wearing of long hair, after the manner of Russians and barbarous Indians, has begun to invade New England, contrary to the rule of God's word, which says it is a shame for man to wear long hair, as also the commendable custom generally of all the godly of all our nation, until within these few years:

"We, the magistrates, who have signed this paper, for the shewing of our own innocency in this behalf, do declare and manifest our dislike and detestation against the wearing of such long hair, as against a thing uncivil and unmanly, whereby men doe deforme themselves and offend sober and modest men and doe corrupt good manners. We doe therefore earnestly intreat all the elders of this jurisdiction, as often as they shall see cause, to manifest their zeal against it in their public administrations, and to take care that the members of their respective churches be not defiled therewith; that so, such as prove obstinate, and will not reforme themselves, may have God and man to witness against them. The third month 10th day, 1649."

The Stranger.

A stranger knocked at a man's door and told him of a fortune to be made.

"Um!" said the man. "It appears that considerable effort will be involved."

"Oh, yes," said the stranger; "you will pass many sleepless nights and toilsome days!"

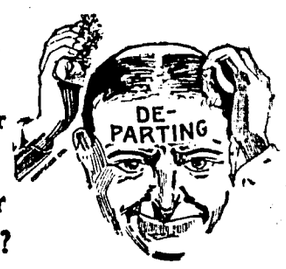
"Um!" said the man. "And who are you?"

"I am called Opportunity."

"Um!" said the man. "You call yourself Opportunity, but you look like hard work to me."

And he slammed the door.—Pittsburgh Post.

Are You Parting Your Hair Or Is Your Hair Departing?



Newbro's Herpicide

SAVES THE PARTING

BY CHECKING THE DEPARTING

Watch the part. It is there that approaching baldness is often first detected. The parting looks uneven, unhealthy. The white streak is gradually growing wider. You may not notice this from day to day but watch the parting from month to month. As further evidence of what is happening look at your brush or comb. It is clogged with dead hair and dandruff after every combing. The hair is gradually dying and coming out and the streak is becoming daily a little wider.

The dandruff germ is doing this and the work of destruction cannot be checked until the dandruff is eradicated and the germ destroyed. It is a condition requiring the prompt and intelligent use of Newbro's Herpicide, if total baldness is to be escaped. The invisible microbic growth never halts in the hair killing process. In a short time a bare spot is seen at the crown of the head. The hair bulbs are robbed of life and finally there is no help but a wig. Don't wait. Herpicide kills the germ, gives life and vigor to the hair and prevents it from departing.
